FOCUSED AND FEARLESS

This was our team’s mantra this year. Under this, we worked on strengthening existing and establishing new initiatives under four areas of focus:

1) Building a better business climate
2) Building business
3) Spurring economic development and
4) Enhancing quality of life.

This year, we focused on strategic partnerships and alliances, which we believe are key factors to success and effective outcomes.

We partnered with several stakeholders, including Hawaii Energy, University of Hawaii, Hawaii Technology Development Corporation and Innovate Hawaii, Hawaii Food Manufacturers and Native Hawaiian Chamber of Commerce, to collaboratively work on solutions, provide resources to members and promote Hawaii to a broader audience.

Some of the partnership initiatives include a record-breaking Hawaii on the Hill, Sector Partnerships and Workforce Development, Tokyo Delegation Trip, Manufacturing in Hawaii and other important initiatives and projects.

As we close the fiscal year, we’d like to thank our members for your continued support and Board of Directors for your investment, time and resources, and for being a champion in supporting our team.

To the Legislature and Administration, a BIG Mahalo for hearing our voice and for your support.

To our neighbor island Chambers, we are grateful for your collaboration and partnerships that continue to make a difference for Hawaii residents and potential clients regarding their mortgage financing needs. It also allows us to create relationships within the Hawaii business community and build long-lasting business partnerships that continue to make a difference for a small-family-owned company like ours. We appreciate our membership and will continue to support the Chamber.

As a business owner, it’s so important to maintain a strong relationship with the person who helps with your banking, whether it’s a branch manager or a business banker. When you communicate openly with your banker in a timely and proactive manner—whether the situation is good or bad—your bank can help you address issues as needed, as it’s their intent to help your business be the best it can be.

It can also be beneficial to take advantage of your bank’s eBanking options.

Q: What are the benefits of using eBanking for my business?

A: At a minimum, eBanking is a great way for business owners to check their account activity and make sure that you don’t spot anything out of the ordinary. However, some banks have eBanking platforms that are excellent cash management tools allowing you to do your banking at your convenience. In addition to tracking cash flows, you can move money, pay bills, make deposits and take payments.

Q: How can eBanking help me run my business?

A: Taking advantage of eBanking can help you run your business efficiently. For example, your bank’s platform may allow you to setup multiple users with specific types of account access, such as user who can view account transactions but not have authorization to move money between accounts. This can help empower staff to research transactions and resolve issues on their own, freeing up your time to focus on other aspects of your business.
